The Last of the Season.

Sergt. Conger closes his very valuable series of weekly crop bulletins for the sea son with the issue of the week ending Sept. That part of the closing bulletin relating to the results of the weather is as fol lows: The weather conditions have been favorable to all growing crops. There is still a deficiency in rainfall, which will probably make the new sown wheat come up uneveuly. Wheat sowing is about fin-ished. Corn husking has begun and, as before noted, the kernel is somewhat shrunken. Root crops are now being gathered. The crop is better than anticipated. Frost has done but little damage to crops in the south half of the state, but it nipped vines badly in the northern section.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC,
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 24, '88. |
[Circular Letter No. 1.]
COMRADE.—The commander in-chief, upon assuming the duties of his office, desires to touch elbows and keep step with the depart-ment commanders and all comrades, that there may be no break along the line. It is his hope that this year will be one of ear-nest, active work. Every Grand Army post should be a recruiting station. There is necessity for this. We are confronted with the fact that thousands of honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the rebeilion are not members of the Grand Army of the Republic. The names of all of these, our old companions in arms, who live with-in a reasonable distance of a Grand Army post, should be counted on our rolls. Until this is done our organization has not reached its maximum. It is for you, comrades, to say whether we shall advance or retreat. We cannot stand still—we must advance. Let it be understood that as in 1861-5 the politics or religion of a comrade were not questioned; that as then we did not permit differences on this question to divide us, so it shall be now. Frateralty, charity and loyalty is a platform broad chough for every survivor of the union army to stand upon Standing upon that platform the spirit of true comradeship protects a comrade's sectarian and political opinions from even adverse criticism. His opinions on these questions he is entitled to. With them his comrades have nothing to do, save to respect them and to protect him in the free exercise of the same. As members of the grandest civic organization in the world, let us, one and all, hew to this line. As officers let us practice what we preach. ing we may reasonably hope to increase in members and usefulness and strengthen the bonds of comradeship that should bind the veterans of the union army and nav one to another, a comradeship the warp and woof of which are fraternity and charity woven in the loom of lovalty. Comrades, the commander in chief asks that which he believes he will receiveyour active co-operation in advancing the lines of our order. With your assistance much can be accomplished; without it his labors will be in vain. Department commanders will, at as early a day as possible, notify these headquarters of the time and place of hedding the encampment in each department. This letter is subscribed by your comrade in F. C. and L.

The present session of congress is already the longest ever known in American history. The longest preceding session was that of 1850, the year of the Missouri compromise, which was adjourned at noon of Sept. 30. Constructively, the session of 1868, following the impeachment proceedings against President Johnson, was longer, the adjournment sine die having taken place Nov. 10, but as a matter of fact con gress took a six weeks' recess from July 27, and pover afterward had a quorum or attempted to transact any business.

Log Cabin Success

What alls the young men!
Robert Garrett's father left him a fortune of twenty millions. He was from childhood reared in luxury; he received a splendid education with an especial training into a thorough knowledge of railroad management and was especial to succeed his father as a railroad king.

Within three years after the responsibilities which his father's death threw upon him were assumed, he is reported a broken down man, with mind and health permanently shattered.

George Law is another young man left with millions of money, who is reported among the "wrecks." His father, bred a stone masen, was of girantic size and strength, with commensurate brain power, so he became a great contractor, then a railroad king and left half a dozen millions for his son to dissipate. The young man is a success as a dissipator.

The founders of both of these great estates were born in the most humble walks of life, grew strong, mentally and physically, by simple living and honest labor and developed into financial giants. Their sons were reared in the lap of luxury and developed oped into intellectual pigmies.

The great men of our country have not, as a rule, come from the elegant mansions of the cities, but from the Log Cabins of the rural districts. Simple ways of living, freedom from dissipation and enervating pleasures, simple remedies for disease, effective and which leave no poison in the system, develop brawny, brainy men, who compel the world to recognize their Strength and power.

The wholesome, old-fashioned Log Cabin remedies are the safest and surest for family use. Our grandmothers knew how to prepare the teas and syrups of roots, herbs and balsams which drive disease out of the system by natural methods and leave no after ill effects. The most potent of these old-time remedies were, after long and searching investigation, secured by H. H. Warner of safe cure fame, and are now put out for the "healing of the nations" in the Warner's Log Cabin Remedies.

Log Cabin sarsaparilla and with pure blood giving health, strength, mental and bodily vigor, you may hope to cope successfully with the most gigantic financial problems of the age, without wrecking health and manhood. A new vase is of silver with gold relief work profusely decorated with passion flowers. It makes a handsome centerpiece.

Interested People. Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam, for Coughs and Colds does, is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it, a sample bottle Free, that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c and $1. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption.
